PROFILE

Hi, I'm Dani, a passionate learner with a strong interest in programming. While I don't consider myself to be a standout, my key strengths lie in adaptability and rapid learning. I enjoy tackling new challenges that push me to acquire skills quickly and efficiently. The combination of challenge and purpose drives me, and the satisfaction of achieving something through my own efforts is what motivates me most. Without a clear challenge or goal, however, I find it difficult to stay motivated.

PROJECTS

DIY HomeServer

Built a home server using two repurposed laptops running Debian Linux.

Self-hosted and managed services like network storage (Samba), music streaming (Navidrome), and local download caching.

Set up a VPS WireGuard relay to securely access my home network from anywhere.
